

144,000: 16 – A Garden of Green

This week, we move from the power of love/circulatory system to its equal sister/complementary partner of wisdom-judgment-justice/pituitary gland and endocrine system. As given in Birth of the Light Body, whereas the color for love is white, the color for wisdom-judgment is green.

With wisdom, good judgment and divine justice, we establish harmony and wholeness in our mind, soul and body, such that our I Am Self can express itself rightly and in balanced fashion in and through us. Each of our endocrine glands secretes a hormone into the blood stream that travels to, and regulates, a particular organ or system, bringing it/them into a state of equilibrium and equipoise.

On March 18, 2009, Spirit lifted me into such a transcendent state of healing, harmony, balance, wisdom, good judgment and holiness. At our weekly staff meditation, I sensed a being before me who was filled with light and whose love lit up my heart. It was Sananda-Jesus the Christ, whom I did not so much see but rather by faith perceived inwardly. In time, when I had become accustomed to his extraordinary vibration, he said to me, "Follow me, for I have gone to prepare a place for you." He led me up a hill that reminded me of the path to Golgotha, where he had carried his cross and had been crucified. When we neared the top of this hill, however, the Master ascended and entered into an ethereal garden of other worldly beauty and grace, in which there were all manner of green trees, bushes, shrubs, vegetables, grasses and other such plants. Moreover, a green glow suffused the whole place. In time, I knew I was to enter this holy garden of green, and that once I had secured the pathway to it I would help others to travel there also, just as Sananda had led me. I was overwhelmed with gratitude, awe and humility.

When I came out of meditation, I knew that it would take me much time to absorb, understand and integrate this experience, and to have it confirmed. What I did realize was that the green represented healing, as well as the green of wisdom-judgment-justice. I was to go from being in the Garden of Gethsemane, where my residual past errors were being pressed out, to the garden of green or the garden of grace or the new Garden of Eden in which I would function in I Am consciousness, while still maintaining a physical form, to heal humanity.

Verification and elaboration came at our staff meditation on March 25, 2009, via Phillel/Philip Jacobs, who is co-director with me of Mark-Age/I Am Nation. Following is what he recorded in his diary:

"A sphere of white light anchored into my crown chakra and formed around my head, producing a powerful halo effect. Sananda then overshadowed me. He appeared in a typical representation as Christ Jesus. Tall and well-toned, he wore a long white robe, which was blindingly bright to my inner vision. He had dark brown shoulder-length hair and brown eyes. During our communion, the Master conveyed the following thoughts:

"In the lead-up to Easter, inaugurating the new wave of personal resurrections, Sananda will conduct a series of transfigurations through the identified 144,000 elect: those light workers, of all walks of life and spiritual pathways around the world, who freely have elected to serve the Second Coming program, by whatever name they choose to label it.

"Sananda will transfigure, infiltrate and suffuse his light body through the light-body essence of each person who is receptive and who has chosen to serve the divine plan. In his position as Prince of Earth, he personally will bring to each disciple a specific blessing. This blessing, in effect a high-energy transfer unique to each one, will be the key to unlock the precise code that will bring that individual to a higher notch of spiritual resurrection by Easter. 'I will magnify myself through each one,' Sananda said.

"Each of us has a different code that Sananda will trigger. Our code represents our individual set of circumstances: our personal soul karma, as accumulated from this and past lives; the diverse patterns we are transforming in our present embodiment; our particular needs for healing and realignment; the categories we exemplify for mass consciousness in our relationships, family units, careers, backgrounds, religions and philosophies, positions of service to the hierarchical program. All these comprise complex formulas that require a unique equation to resolve and to bring into higher balance with the Hierarchy's goals for planet Earth. No two formulas are alike.

"Each of us will experience Sananda's transfiguration in a different way, depending on what is most needed in our service for the highest good of all at this stage of the Second Coming program. Thus, some will receive new insights to overcome long-standing soul challenges. Some will have mental-emotional or physical healings of heretofore immovable conditions. Some will be sparked with new enthusiasm and determination to accomplish their spiritual missions. Some will find a greater facility with light-body contact and projection, as certain blockages will be dissolved and a new alignment will be effected. Some will awaken to new opportunities of service, new avenues to explore that had not been on their radar screen. Some even will experience a literal, tangible transfiguration, either in dream or meditation, and will be aware of Sananda/Jesus' presence in the light body.

"Sananda's series of transfigurations will bring each one to a new step by Easter. But it will be only the first step, the first lesson in a new mastership class in the university of life. (That further explains my dream of March 24th, wherein I was orienting myself on the first day of high school.) Once we achieve this new resurrection in consciousness, we must hold the energy steady, incorporate it fully through all levels of our being, and broadcast it to all in mass consciousness. The higher light-body anchoring in itself will present a whole new set of challenges to master. The going will not be easy or assured. We will have adverse reactions to this input of light, as Hannibal [Dr. Hannibal-St. Germain, Director of the Sixth Ray of Transmutation] indicated on March 22nd.

"When Sananda explained all these things to me, I implored him, 'Master, show us the way.' To demonstrate his point, he stood behind me, placed his hands on my head, and blessed me. Through my crown chakra he transferred the energy code that would unlock my own next step in resurrection. I decreed: 'I serve Spirit only! Father-Mother God, unfold my light-body talents and powers only to the degree that they serve the highest good of all on Earth and within this solar system. Sananda, I rededicate myself to serving your needs for the Second Coming. So be it. Thank you for your blessing. Thank you for showing us the way.'

"Then, while I sat in holy communion, Sananda/Jesus fully entered my form. Transfiguring his light body through mine, he radiated his light to the world." END.

Dear friends, I suspect that you already have had some correlating experiences and intimations of Sananda's presence and influence, so please feel free to share them via email (rhknapp@aol.com) or post them on my blog (<http://healinghaven.typepad.com>), scroll to the bottom of this post and click on "comment" which will bring up a screen whereupon you can post your sharing).

Meanwhile, we are linked as one in the One as we hold one united force field for anchoring Sananda's light on Earth and for healing humanity. Around the globe, we are sitting on twelve thrones and rightly judging the twelve tribes of Israel, whom we infuse with love and peace, cooperation and coordination, good judgment and righteous justice and otherworldly wisdom. So be it.
