

InVest: 37 – Power Up

In the later part of my Pentecost meditation, Spirit and the agents of Spirit lifted me into my light body. This was the easiest, most comfortable, most powerful and most normal upliftment yet. Before me in my inner vision was China. I had projected to this nation many times before, usually to one section (the center or middle of it), to its political leaders, and to its capital Beijing.

This time, Spirit inspired me to reach out in my light-body arms, to hold China in both hands like a newborn baby, and to lift it up. Here was the enactment of the principle: I, when I am lifted up, lift all others unto me. All Chinese were uplifted in the light. Each was seen as being reborn. In particular, I focused on the minimum 12,000 elect in this most populous nation on Earth.

Only after I began to come back down in consciousness was I a bit concerned about the power involved in this upliftment. Could I really do this? Had I been a bit grandiose in it? Oh yes, how the mortal loves to get in its digs and doubts. What I affirmed and knew for sure was that some later event, meditation, vision, dream or other experience would confirm this new level of having Spirit do all things through me. As always, I would know the present experience by its fruits.

That night, before going to sleep, I asked Spirit for further guidance. I dreamt that I was with 8 light workers, including Nada-Yolanda, Phillel, my wife MariLyn and myself; and 4 others I did not know (who represented all those light workers who are unknown to me consciously, including in the astral realms). All of us had received the pouring out of the Holy Spirit. We were starting a new octave in the use of power, as represented by the 8. My invisible teachers in the dream explained that what had happened was like unto the downloading of a computer file or program from the Internet or World Wide Web into each of our brains. The information for our next steps in developing the power we had received on Pentecost was encapsulated or programmed into each of our cerebrums. It would take many days to weeks, until the end of the spring cycle on June 21st, for this downloaded information to become conscious and integrated.

In the dream, I talked at some length with Nada-Yolanda, my primary spiritual teacher when she still was on Earth until 2005, about her download. She had received new instructions about how to move forward in her relationship with her soul mate Edward. Throughout her past life, she had focused on reviewing and healing their past mistakes. Now she had guidance about how to begin anew. She was thrilled, and so was I. At the same time, she still was not quite sure what all of the new instructions actually meant or would involve. She vowed to go with the flow.

Friends, all of us have received our new encapsulated instructions that have been implanted by the agents of Spirit in our cerebral computers. By now, 8 days after Pentecost, perhaps you already have dreamt about this, have had some other inkling of it, or just have felt it in a new level of consciousness and works. Per usual, it takes time to power up the new program and to put the new level of love, wisdom, will and power into action. Like Nada-Yolanda, remember that the past is over, the soul balancing is done, and it is definitely the time to move forward.

Adhere to the cosmic truth that of your mortal self, you do nothing but suffer. Spirit, however, does and heals all things through you and propels you forward. Be in this consciousness and do what it is that Spirit, the One Power, would have you do each new step of the way. So be it.
