

InVest: 42 – See with the Eye of Daniel

On May 4, 2010, I dreamt that I met with one of my spiritual teachers, who although invisible to my physical eyes, was as clearly and powerfully present as any physical being. This teacher did not identify himself, but his vibration was so familiar, wise and truthful, that I immediately felt at ease with him and trusted what he clearly conveyed, mostly via thought, to me.

He proclaimed, “You now have the eye of Daniel.” I was taken aback by this, and responded that I did not understand what he meant. He added, “You have the eye of Daniel the Prophet.” This gave me deeper insight, as I knew it referred to the towering prophet Daniel of the Old Testament, who had the God-given wisdom to interpret dreams and visions. Still, I really did not comprehend the nuances or depth of my teacher’s incredible pronouncement.

As further explanation for my conscious comprehension, my beloved mentor said that new and greater responsibilities would come with my having reached the point in my ongoing spiritual evolution whereby I had Daniel-like wisdom to interpret new images given to me by Spirit and the agents of Spirit. Moreover, my guardian warned me that there were dangers involved, because I now was more psychically sensitive and would pick up on, and be the target of, more negativity. Via my imagination faculty, I would not only see the good but also would mirror evil, and would be tempted to respond in kind. I would need to learn how to deal rightly, positively and powerfully with dissolving and transforming this error in myself and others.

To illustrate this, he placed me in a kind of holodeck, like unto the one in the Star Trek movies and TV shows. In the first scene, I was with a former spiritual associate who had fallen away from the spiritual program. Although professing to be peaceful, when someone irritated him, he eventually erupted in anger and self-righteously killed this “thorn in the flesh.” I was shocked and amazed, but said nothing.

In the next scene, this old, fallen one again got angry when someone else annoyed him to no end, and self-righteously and indignantly killed this person; and felt totally in the right and had no remorse. Again, I was quiet and was half tempted to believe that this action had been fitting and proper. If people act like idiots, kill them; if not physically, then with negative thoughts.

In the third scene, the same scenario transpired, only this time I joined my fallen past friend and helped him kill his tempter. Cain slew Abel. And I felt no remorse. Ugh!

Interpretation: As we focus on our power of imagination, seeing ourselves in a crystal clear cube of light, we develop new clarity, wisdom and Daniel-like prophetic powers. This is wondrous, and at first beyond our understanding and comprehension. It takes time and ongoing guidance from our guardian angel, like unto Lord Gabriel with Daniel, to see how we are to use our higher imagination power for good; and to coordinate it with the power of understanding.

Such opening, expansion and clearing of our third eye also exposes us to unresolved soul difficulties within our soul in which we are tempted to misuse our power; to try to control, dominate, control and belittle others, rather than see the Christ in them, no matter how stupidly or mortally they act. For better or worse, what we see, will be!

Moreover, we psychically pick up and reflect in our own thoughts the negative thoughts of others. It's like going to a movie and becoming so involved in the imagery that we feel like we are one of the characters. If we are not careful, we allow ourselves to act out the negativity of others. Moreover, the fallen, lesser ones around us treat us like they did when they poisoned Socrates, tried to assassinate the Buddha, did assassinate Mahatma Gandhi, and crucified Jesus. Other court prophets and seers were so jealous of Daniel that they had him thrown into the lion's den, but since he kept his eye single on God he was not harmed. In past lives, we may have such idiots, jealous ones, and well-meaning but self-deceived Judases. So, forgiveness is in order for everyone, ourselves included. Loving forgiveness protects and heals.

Over the last week, we three at I Am Nation headquarters have had disturbing dreams, feelings and outer exchanges with others that have prompted us to be more protection minded. Several of you have reported similar such negative dreams and experiences. Like you, we also have responded by doing our best to be wise as a serpent. We have dug deeper within and had more quiet time in order to rightly judge what is coming from within us and what we are reflecting and mirroring from the thoughts, desires and psychic attacks of others; both those on Earth and those in the lower astral planes. Time and again, we have wrapped ourselves in light, wielded the sword of truth to remove ourselves from error, and held to new images of peace and love, within ourselves and in others. Reading the Book of Daniel has been most helpful. (Above painting is by Francois Verdier.)

All of this is a balancing act. On the one hand, we have new, wonderful, mind-expanding experiences, including communions with angels such as the invisible teacher in my dream, whom I suspect was Lord Gabriel. Then, shortly thereafter, we feel immersed in negativity, not only from our own uncleansed souls, but even more so from those around us, and those around the world. Talk about cosmic schizophrenia!

Still, no one, no thought, no group of people, nothing of the lesser or mortal or psychic level has power over us unless we allow it. Our Father-Mother God gives us all the power and new images we need to heal, to restore balance, and to keep moving forward. To the degree that we rightly wield the sword, speak the word, and see the truth, we are immune to any harm. If we allow ourselves to respond angrily, self-righteously, negatively from our weakness, however, what we try to kill in others is exactly what gets killed or destroyed in us. As we sow, so do we reap. Thoughts are things that become physical actions and reactions. Be careful!

Visualization: See yourself in a crystal clear cube of light, within which you have the eye of Daniel: the wisdom to interpret dreams and visions, the power to see into hidden realms, the ability to see the future and know the influence of the past, and the ability to protect yourself. Link with Lord Gabriel, archangel of the Fourth Ray of Crystallization and De-Crystallization and his angelic cohorts and assistants.

If and when you feel like you are in some weird holodeck, twilight zone or lion's den, in which you are surrounded by the king of the beastly mortal consciousness, know that you are protected, loved and guided by Lord Gabriel, other guardian angels, and ascended masters. Keep your eye single on God, who gives all power unto you. Receive and hold to and radiate the new images that you receive. Let go of the old, the negative, the threatening mortal images. With divine love, be immune to the lions of negativity. See the Christ in yourself and others. Of its own darkness, the error and evil eventually will dissolve. In its place, transfiguring over it, what you see, will be. Thank You, Spirit, and all agents of Spirit!
