

InVest: 39 – Be a Tri-Pole Tower of Power

Two weeks after Pentecost, we step into a new octave of demonstrating the power of the Holy Spirit, which has poured out upon, within and through us. Spirit now reveals and releases new, unique ways for each one of us to be a tower of power.

My initial guidance for this new step came on June 1, 2010, when I dreamt that Nada-Yolanda came from my left to meet with me. Her whole being and body radiated an inner excitement about some new development. She took me to a nearby hill atop which was an extraordinary, unearthly tower of power that glowed with light and electromagnetic energy.

The tower consisted of 3 poles, each joined and fused to the other. They arose from a solid base that appeared to be a cube, which served as a rock-solid, faith-filled foundation. The cube was pitch-black, as was the bottom half of the three poles that lifted up from it. The central pole was the largest in diameter and the tallest, being maybe 3-4 feet in width and perhaps 120 feet tall. The bottom half had what looked like a protective, insulating, pitch-black cover around it, from which emerged a shining, metallic, silver-colored pole that had some gold rings around it.

To the left of the center pole was the second-highest and second-widest pole. It was maybe 20 feet lower than the first pole, and its diameter was about two-thirds of the central pole. This second pole also radiated powerful sounds and energies, but its power was less than that of the first, core pole.

The third pole, which was to the right, was the shortest and narrowest of the 3, being about 20 feet lower than the second pole, and maybe two-thirds of its diameter. Still, it resonated with and radiated out higher frequencies to the local area. This energy, however, was the least powerful of the 3 poles. Like the other 2 poles, the bottom half of this third pole was insulated and pitch-black, and its upper half was silver with some gold rings.

I knew intuitively that I was to enter this new power and projecting station, and to learn how to operate in and with its power for the upliftment and healing of humanity; to a whole new degree.

INTERPRETATION: In May, we focused on the power of will that expresses via the respiratory system. Now, in June, after absorbing the energies of Pentecost, we shift our focus to the quality of power that expresses via our vocal apparatus, muscular system and limbs. Having aligned our will with God's will, we become a tower of Spirit's transformative power.

As explained in Birth of the Light Body by Nada-Yolanda and myself, we express spiritual power on three levels or planes. The first, lowest and least powerful is the conscious level, through physical acts such as writing, talking, singing and doing works. In my dream, the pole on the right portrayed the conscious pole or aspect of our triune power as a child of God.

The second level is at the soul/subconscious/psychic level, via our dreams, visions and psychic powers. This is the left pole in the dream, more powerful than the conscious but less powerful than the core or third pole in the center.

The third, most powerful level is the superconscious mind or I Am Self via our light body, the central pole of light that we are as a spiritual being. This is Christ mind power, the speaking of the word. When overshadowed and transfigured by our light form (Holy Spirit), and by the angels and ascended masters, Spirit speaks and sings and chants and decrees healing through us, which radiates to and uplifts the entire world.

Visualization: Imagine yourself being a tri-pole tower of Godly power. Start by surrounding yourself in a cube of light that is about 12 feet along each face or facet. Center yourself within the cube, and be solidly grounded, founded and protected. The surface of the cube is pitch-black. This means that as Jesus advised, go into the closet (darkness, void, emptiness) to pray.

Be in the central column or tower of power in your physical form, which is your spinal column, to which the body's strongest muscles attach. Ask Spirit to lift you up this column to the silver pole that rises from the top of your head. This is the central, most potent tower of power that you are in I Am consciousness. It goes up at least 120 feet.

See a second, smaller pole to the left of the central pole. This starts where your left arm and leg attach to your physical body and extends out a couple feet. This is the subconscious aspect of soul or psychic power, which functions under the direction of, and in harmony with, the central pole of I Am or superconscious power. On their bottom half, both of these poles are insulated with a pitch-black, protective covering. The second pole rises about 100 feet.

Visualize the third pole to the right of you, starting at your right shoulder and hip, and being a couple feet in diameter. It goes upward 80 feet or so, but is joined with the central or superconscious pole. The three poles work together in harmonic resonance. They are joined, united, bonded, balanced and centered in oneness with God's good power. Conscious, subconscious and superconscious are one in the One.

Reach up, especially via the central pole, to the Higher Power that is flowing down into you. Take it as it comes. Be at ease, poised and full of assurance that you can do whatever Spirit wishes and wills you to do. Practice daily. Have faith that our Father-Mother God never gives you more power than you can handle.

When centered and poised in the tri-pole tower of peaceful power, speak the word. Speak in the name of the Christ. Be inspired to sing whatever comes to you. Chant Oms or some other chant arises within you. Re-broadcast Paul the Apostle's famous decree: Be ye transformed and healed by the renewing of your mind.

Practice this tower-of-power visualization until you get comfortable with it. Follow whatever inspiration you receive in implanting and employing this new level of power. The visualization is a universal image to get you started, but you will see the 3 poles and receive new power in some unique, individual way(s). Trust in God and His-Her agents, and go with the flow.

Give it 7 steps/days to begin to learn how to function in this new level. Wait, watch, listen, learn, see, transmute and be power in action. Remember and reaffirm that God is the One and only Power in your life and in all life. Have Spirit do all things through you. Be a tower of I Am power!
