

InVest: 60 – Begin your Rebirth in the Light

As we move into the 11th month of November, we shift our focus to the 11th power of regeneration. Our goal: to be reborn in the light of our I Am Self; to be who we truly are. Judas Iscariot portrayed this power that manifests primarily via the regenerative chakra and reproductive organs. The corresponding color is ruby or blood red.

To facilitate your regeneration, begin by being like Judas, whose name means to “praise God.” Give thanks ahead of time for your rebirth, your renewal and rehabilitation, and your coming forth again as a child of light, love and life. What you positively praise is what you will rebirth.

Even as you thank our Creator, beware the “Iscariot” side of your consciousness. Iscariot means “man of the cities; man of hostile encounters.” This is the underside or shadow side of our regenerative power. Like all powers, we can use regeneration for better or worse. Usually unwittingly, because there is still some mortal residue of darkness within us, we may be tempted to use it selfishly, in a hostile fashion, in an attempt to force things or have power over others.

Our Judas Iscariot power thus “reveals or betrays” how far we actually have progressed in our yearlong investment in our I Am Self and the I Am Nation. As Jesus said, know them by their fruits. By whatever we co-create in this 11th step, we will know the true nature of our progress. So, keep the faith and be steady as she goes. Always be protected in the light of love.

Begin by visualizing a 12-foot high red letter V over your head. The downward pointing tip or apex of the V first enters your crown chakra and cerebrum. Of yourself, you cannot force or make this happen. By imagining it, however, you prepare yourself for when Spirit does initiate it. Not my will, oh Lord, but Thy will be done!

Imagine the V lowering gradually into your third eye, then down your spine to your throat, heart and solar plexus chakras, and finally into your regenerative chakra. From there, the V descends to your sacral chakra, down your legs and about 2 feet into the ground. You are fully anchored now in the birthing channel of the V, which is filled with ruby or blood red light.

The two sides of the V are around you, and you are inside of it. Looking at the V in three dimensions, it is more like a funnel or a vortex. It represents the insertion, the investment, the rebirthing of your light body in and through your four lower bodies. It is the pouring out of Spirit upon all flesh.

Affirm: I am reborn in the regenerative red light of my I Am or Christ Self. See this. Be this. Under the guidance and direction of our Mother-Father God, bring it forth. Amen.
